Five fixed Thai tickers; validation supports selection and the later test period is protected for conclusions

Chronological observed-market split

Rows equal dates x five tickers. The split is chronological; observations are not randomly shuffled.